ABLEISM IN ACADEMIA WORKSHOP

by

REVIVAL DISABILITY INDIA
AND AAINA

How do disabled students navigate the university space

What assumptions and biases do teachers and students have about disabled students?

How are disabilities recognised and addressed by the broader university community (faculty, students, administrators)?

What are some institutional mechanisms available to support disabled students infrastructurally, academically, socially, and emotionally?

Revival Disability India

Revival Disability India is an online community of Disabled and Queer folks in India + a magazine focusing on narratives of Disability, Queerness, Intersectional Feminism and Desire! Our members have received the Laadli Media And Advertising Awards for Gender Sensitivity in 2022.

Aaina is an initiative to help encourage critical reflection on educational experience. They explore how learning is linked to questions of society, history, and culture. They aim to build conversations on how we can re-imagine education as empowering and transformative for all, not just a privileged few.
