Part A: To be completed by the Project Implementer

Project Title	Promoting interfaith issues through capacity building training of the graduate-level students by influential faith leaders.
Purpose This must be NO MORE than one sentence, clearly setting out the "change" to be delivered	The project aims to promote inter-faith dialogue and harmony amongst graduate-level students, through 6 capacity building training programmes across several cities, conducted by influential faith leaders, leading to students being trained as Master Trainers.
Short Project Summary In no more than 200 words explain what the project plans to achieve and how (setting out how the Outputs will deliver the Purpose/Objective, and how the activities will deliver each relevant Output), and what difference will it make on the ground over the next few years? This question will be looked at again during any Evaluation of this project, and when an Impact Report is done. The success of the project will largely be judged on what is said here	The project is aimed at enhancing the importance of interfaith dialogue and harmony among the society at large and students in particular. It aims to involve both the faith leaders and students to deliver a sustainable programme focussing on the young generation audience. Under the project leaders from all faiths will be invited by Department of Islamic Studies, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi to evolve a mechanism through which these religious scholars will impart their recommendations to the youth groups in colleges and universities and establish a network of youth groups promoting these concepts on a regular basis, to provide sustainability to the project. Jamia has a good faculty and infrastructure to deliver the programme in a short span of time, besides which it's Islamic Studies Deptt has very good contacts and rapport with different faith leaders, and it'll be able to influence them to include those aspects of faith and belief, incorporated in the training programme which the FCO wants to highlight through its HR Strategy. Background: India is the birthplace of several religions, Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, and Sikhism, and home for thousands of years to Jewish, Zoroastrian, Muslim, and Christian communities. The constitution and other laws and policies protect religious freedom and, in practice, the national government generally enforced these protections. Some state and local governments, which hold responsibility under the constitution for law and order, limited this freedom by maintaining or enforcing existing "anti-conversion" legislation and by not efficiently or effectively prosecuting those who attacked religious minorities. However, other aspects related to FoRB in India, such as relating to untouchability, conversions to Christianity and Islam, discrimination on religious basis abound, coupled with at times weak law enforcement, lack of trained police, and overburdened court system which play a lethargic role in not addressing communal tensions and issues as swiftly as possible.

Importance of Interfaith harmony or respect for each other's religion was also outlined by Prime Minister Cameron and Modi in their public address at Wembley Stadium in Nov 2015. Building better relationship amongst different religions is of interest to British government and public, alike and a considerable interest for the same is also shown by the British parliamentarians.

In recent days the issue of 'Intolerance' gained a lot of attraction in the civil society and the political establishment in India, experts feel that one way to handle this issue is through better understanding and appreciation of each other's religion and culture.

Participating students will be selected by Jamia through a process of self-/peer-nomination and final selection done after a brief interview, to assess their motivation and aspiration on why they want to be part of this initiative and how they plan to provide sustainability to this project.

The project will also have Dr Edward Kessler, Founder/Director, Woolf Institute, Cambridge, Dr Shana Cohen, Director, Woolf Institute, Cambridge and Dr John Fahy, Research Fellow at Georgetown University, Qatar Campus and Woolf Institute, Cambridge, UK, well known Interfaith practitioners from the UK, participating at the conference organised by Jamia.

The key outputs would be:

--a curriculum formulated including teachings and messages of all faiths,

--9 capacity building training workshops for youth organised in 3 cities (New Delhi, Aligarh and Lucknow/Patna),

 --900-1050 students trained in interfaith principles and motivated to conduct such training at a smaller level in their colleges/universities, thus providing sustainability to the project.
 Network of key interfaith practitioners and young gen advocates on interfaith, established to carry forward BHC, India's future programme on faith with communities.

Key information about Westminster's research degree programmes

We would recommend that you take some time to review key information about our research degree programmes, including the policies, regulations and codes that will govern your study at Westminster. These can be found at westminster.ac.uk/research-framework. The University's Code of Practice for Research Degree Programmes, the Guidelines for Research Students and the Research Degree Regulations are of particular interest, as they set out details of the research degree process, the requirements of the programme and the awards, and the roles and responsibilities of all participants.

Enrolment and Induction

Your programme of study will start with a one-day Enrolment and Induction event. This will take place on 19 September 2013. We will email you nearer the time with details of the programme and how to enrol.

The Enrolment and Induction event is an essential foundation for your development as a researcher at Westminster and provides you with key information about the University and the research degree programme on which you are embarking. Additionally, it is a valuable opportunity to network with staff and students at Westminster. We therefore expect all new research students to attend.

In the weeks following University Enrolment and Induction, there will be a programme of induction and other training activities that you will need to engage with. Further information will be made available prior to arrival.

Disability

Based on information collected through the applications process, our current records indicate that you do not have a disability. However, if this is incorrect, please contact the University's Disability Adviser at disabilities-westminster@westminster.ac.uk, or telephone on +44 (0) 20 7911 5163 for a discussion of how we can help you.

Visas

Please note that this letter is not suitable for the purpose of obtaining a Tier 4 Student Visa, the requirements for which are set out below. Once you have accepted this offer, you will be issued with a Confirmation of Acceptance of Studies (CAS) which should be used for your visa application. Further details about the CAS are included with this letter.

What should I do next?

We'd be grateful if you would:

- Confirm by email as soon as you can whether you wish to take up this place. We would appreciate your response within two weeks if possible.
- Contact your Faculty research contact (Peter Goodwin, goodwip@westminster.ac.uk) if you have any questions about the academic content of your programme, for example supervision and facilities.
- Add the dates for the one-day Enrolment and Induction event to your diary.
- Look out for important information on the next steps you'll need to take.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTMINSTER

I very much hope you will be able to join our research degree programme and look forward to hearing from you. Should you have any queries in the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours sincerely

Dear Hem,

Clarendon Fund Scholarship

Congratulations on your offer of a place to study at the University of Oxford. I am delighted to offer you a Clarendon Fund Scholarship (hereafter "scholarship") to study for the full time DPhil in Education at the University of Oxford from October 2011 until September 2014.

Scholarship Summary

The Clarendon Fund was established in 2001 and makes awards to the most academically able international graduate students to study at the University of Oxford. 106 scholarships were accepted for entry in 2010-11, which represented fewer than 7% of the total number of applicants to this prestigious scholarship.

Value of Scholarship

Your scholarship will cover the following:

	Value	Length of scholarship
Tuition fee	100%	three years
College fee	100%	three years
Living expenses	£13,590 (rate for 2011-12 this may be subject to change in future years)	three years This annual grant is normally sufficient to cover the living expenses of a single student living in Oxford.

The scholarship contributions to your tuition fee and college fee will be paid on your behalf by my office so you do not need to take any action yourself.

The scholarship contribution to your living expenses will be paid to you in three equal termly instalments in the week before each term starts (called "0th week") for each year of your scholarship, subject to this funding offer letter.

In your first term, you will receive a cheque (check) and I will send you details about how to collect it in due course. This cheque must be paid into a UK bank account. In your second and subsequent terms, payments will be made directly into your UK bank account.

Part of your first term's grant for living expenses will be paid to you as an "open cheque". This is a special kind of cheque that can be exchanged for cash, and it does not get paid into a bank account. You can cash your open cheque immediately at the Barclays Bank branches on Little Clarendon Street and Cornmarket Street in central Oxford.

If you will be living in college-owned accommodation, you may need to pay your college a deposit before you arrive, and you will need to arrange this directly with the college.

Terms and Conditions

The terms and conditions of your scholarship are fully explained in Appendix 1: Scholarship Terms and Conditions. This also gives you information about the annual process you must complete in order to renew your scholarship if it lasts for more than one year.

Appendix 2: Frequently Asked Questions gives further details about the scholarship. I hope you will find it helpful.

Acceptance of Offer

I would be delighted if you accept this offer of funding at the University of Oxford. Please contact me by email to confirm your acceptance by 20 April 2011. This funding offer letter will be considered valid until this date, unless you decline before that date. If you do not reply by this date, the offer will be withdrawn.

If you wish to accept this offer, please hand-sign Appendix 3: Confirmation of Acceptance and return this to me by ONE of the following means: 1) scanned and sent by email, 2) post, 3) fax, 4) by hand before 20 April 2011. By completing and returning Appendix 3, you are demonstrating a commitment to taking up this offer of funding at the University of Oxford. If you choose to decline this offer, please notify me by email as soon as possible.

UK Visa Information

If you need a UK visa, you can use this funding offer letter as part of your visa application to show proof of funding.

Information about visas, arriving in the UK and the Oxford Orientation Programme for new international students can be found on the Student Information and Advisory Service's website at www.ox.ac.uk/students/international_students/.

Let me take this opportunity to wish you every success in your future studies, and I look forward to hearing from you soon.
