Jamia Millia Islamia

An Overview

Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI) has evolved and expanded remarkably since its inception in 1920. Today, it is a university with a multi-layered educational system that begins with primary education and continues right up till doctoral research. The University has an academic structure comprising faculties and centres. Under the broad rubric of each Faculty are placed departments of study; Centres in Jamia lie outside the purview of Faculties. There are nine Faculties today, with more than three dozen departments within them. Jamia's Centres number twenty-five. Together, the Faculties and Centres are engaged in teaching of undergraduate, postgraduate, diploma and certificate courses. Research here is pursued at both M. Phil. and Ph.D. programmes. More than twenty thousand students are on the rolls and the semester system is now operational across the university.

Jamia's Inception

Jamia was established by a group of nationalist Muslims in Aligarh. In 1924, it faced a serious threat of closure and consequently, it was shifted to Delhi in 1925. The foundation stone of the present campus was laid on March 1, 1930. Though it was a transitional phase in Jamia's history, it was an era that saw the active support and involvement of leaders, intellectuals and educationists. Its founding fathers were drawn from the educated and secular Muslim intelligentsia who actively opposed the "two nation theory" and established an institution that had the support of men like Gandhi and Rabindranath Tagore.

The efforts of people like Hakim Ajmal Khan, Dr. Mukhtar Ahmad Ansari, Janab Abid Hussain, Dr. Zakir Hussain and Professor Mohammed Mujeeb contributed to laying the foundation of an institution that was conceived the National Muslim University. Their efforts sustained Jamia during trying times when it had to struggle through severe lack of funds and infrastructure. This institution's history is replete with sacrifices of both staff and students, as also the assistance of Mahatma Gandhi, in raising funds for its survival and growth. Figures like Mohammed Ali (later to become Jamia's Vice Chancellor) and Hakim Ajmal Khan stressed the need for building an educational institution that would impart modern education as well as nationalist ideals. They perceived an institution in which students would be drawn from all communities, but more specially Muslims.

Jamia's Evolution

The University Grants Commission, recognising Jamia's growth and expansion, granted it the status of a "deemed university" in 1962. The succeeding year – 1963 – saw the introduction of regular teaching programmes like Masters in history and education, and undergraduate programmes in the sciences. By 1969, doctoral programmes had been introduced. Jamia's emergence and recognition as a premier institution of learning came in 1988 when it was accorded the status of a Central University. For its academic structure, Jamia chose the faculty system which had a cluster of different departments in each faculty under a Dean. In 1988, an Act of Parliament granted Jamia the status of a Central University. This was a landmark in the institution's history as it embarked on the enterprise of academic diversification and research, along with expanding its infrastructural base.

Jamia Today

The Jamia's academic community coalesces with its administrative arm to strengthen a system of education that is modern, professional and integrative. Jamia's strength lies in its ability to cull from the past in order to address the present and forge the future. It aspires to produce alumni who are not only academically proficient but who are also responsible citizens shaping the India of the twenty-first century.

Jamia's early days were marked by a spartan lifestyle adopted by all those who came within its portals. Its students and teachers were the true embodiment of the adage of "simple living, high thinking." Jamia's journey as a seat of learning underscores the cultural and religious diversity that helped to evolve and sustain the pluralism that marks the spirit of India.

The institution today has carved out its own distinctive niche in the country's academic scenario. Education here stresses the importance of innovative teaching and vocational training. Over the years, this university has contributed to both the political and the educational spectrum of the country by inculcating values of self-reliance and democratic functioning that were the core principles of Nehruvian India. In its portals have been forged the best academic and cultural traditions that a progressive and liberal educational outlook can engender. The Jamia today symbolises a spirit of learning that blends tradition with modernity, humanism with liberalism, and nation building with professionalism.

Faculty of Education

Department of Educational Studies

The Department of Educational Studies erstwhile Department of Foundations of Education was carved out of the Teachers College in December 1980. It began with Ph.D. (Education) and M.Ed. programme, the M.Phil programme was started in 1983 to enhance the students' engagement in conducting quality research. Since then the department has launched 3 more programmes i.e. M.A. (Educational Planning and Administration), M.Ed. (Elementary Education) and Post Graduate Diploma in Educational Management (PGDEM). Whereas M.A. (Educational Planning & Administration) programme, which was introduced in 1988, has planning and administration as its thrust area, the M.Ed. (Elementary Education) Programme launched in 1997 focuses on the complex needs of elementary education.

The department offers Educational Administration as one of the optional papers in almost all the courses. A number of researches at Ph.D. level have also been undertaken in Educational Administration and Management. Besides, the department has two programmes specifically on Educational Management viz: M.A. (Educational Planning & Administration) a master degree course and Post Graduate Diploma in Educational Management. On these bases the department was granted a DRS under Special Assistant Programme in the thrust area of Educational Management for a period of 5 years i.e. 1 April 2007 to 31 March, 2012. During this period the department organized a number of Seminars, Workshops, and Training Programmes in the area of Educational Management Research etc. The department also developed Performance appraisal proforma for the DIETs to assess their functioning.

Department of Mechanical Engineering

Department Overview

The Department of Mechanical Engineering, Faculty of Engineering and Technology at Jamia Millia Islamia is to provide students with a sound mechanical engineering education, enhance the understanding and application of mechanical engineering principles, for techno economical development of the country, and improve the quality of life of our citizens through teaching, research, and outreach programs. The mission is further to provide an environment where students have extensive avenues to excel, improve technical exposure and develop personality and then get placed in PSUs, MNCs and reputed companies with good future so that students have global presence, in various roles and responsibilities. . With excellent teaching and learning environment it provides a platform to install high motivation, moral values and leadership in its students.

The Department offers eight-semester Bachelor of Technology (B.Tech.) course with an annual intake of seventy, four-semester Master of Technology (M. Tech.) course with annual intake of 18 and Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Mechanical Engineering. M. Tech. Program is offered in three broad areas of Mechanical Engineering namely Production-Industrial Engineering, Machine Design and Thermal Engineering. The department has a student population of about 560 at UG, 40 at PG and about 44 at doctoral research levels. In addition, it also offers four-year, Bachelor of Engineering (B.E) (Part-Time) program in the evening with an annual intake of 70 for working diploma holders to up-grade their knowledge and skill.

The students from diverse background are selected through a nationwide written test followed by an interview. The posh campus, situated in southern suburb of national capital provides excellent teaching and learning environment to the students. Most of the classrooms are fitted with modern audio visual aids. The undergraduate curriculum of the Department includes a foundation of mathematics, physics, chemistry, environment, humanities, and electrical engineering. Engineering courses in fundamental areas constitute much of the remaining curriculum. A few technical electives allow the undergraduate student to specialize somewhat or to pursue broader understanding. In addition, the students develop experiment conducting skill by performing experiments in 20 different laboratories in the department. Department also supports workshop to students of all branches of Engineering.

The course curriculum has been designed to prepare its graduates to become intellectual leaders in industry, government, and academia. Graduates of the program will have the professional and scientific knowledge that allows them to be successful as career engineers and in the most demanding graduate programs. Specifically, they will be able to:

Function in professional environments in industry, government, and academia applying and building upon engineering science knowledge, problem-solving skills, and communication skills;

Function as members of teams and in leadership roles applying ethical standards beyond traditional Mechanical engineering disciplines; Remain acquainted with technology and contemporary scientific and societal issues, and consequently improve skills and knowledge through a lifelong process of learning.

Good research facilities and teaching oriented laboratories are available in Metrology, Ergonomics, CAD, Computer Integrated Manufacturing and Refrigeration and Air-conditioning

Department has active and vibrant students' chapters of major professional bodies as American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) and Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE). Here they get a world class platform for organizing, participating and developing engineering ideas. This helps them in developing a holistic personality.

It has sanctioned strength of 27 teachers. The Department derives its excellence from the team of highly qualified, experienced, sincere and dedicated teaching faculty members. , all employed have PhDs, except few members pursuing research. The Faculty members actively participate in research and consultancy-work with a gross departmental publication of exceeding 350 in reputed refereed International Journals. Faculty is high qualified and sincere.

Research in the Department of Mechanical Engineering is diverse and scholars are directly exposed to the multidisciplinary nature of modern mechanical engineering and its allied areas. At any point of time approximate 40 students are enrolled in the department for research. The Department provides facilities and supervision to conduct research on advanced topics of Industrial-Production, Thermal and Machine Design Engineering.

The department has active collaboration with academics and industry such as University of Salford (UK), CII, IIT Delhi, NTPC, TERI, DTU, DST, DRDO, currently department is undertaking two sponsored research projects one from Department of Science and Technology for Rs 15.36 lacs (on Technology Forecasting and Assessment) and another from Ministry of Environment and Forests partnered with TERI for Rs 68 Lacs.

In the past, several events including International conferences, National conferences, Summer schools, Seminars and Workshops related to various areas of Mechanical Engineering have been organized and similar events are planned to be organized in future too.

The Department has focus for the future developments and it offers the aspirant engineer the opportunity to study in a pleasant environment. Through the modern structure of the Department, a special and unique opportunity is provided to the students to prepare themselves for the demands of their future work environment. Well-equipped laboratories and a competent lecturing corps, combined with the dynamics of a big city on the threshold of our campus, ensure that the Department remains at the forefront of the latest technology and makes the University the number one choice for prospective student's admission.

Faculty of Natural Sciences

Department of Bio-Sciences

Department of Biosciences at Jamia Millia Islamia was established in 1985 with an aim to impart teaching with strong component of physical sciences and research in interdisciplinary areas of Modern Biology. In this pursuit, we also maintain in-house expertise in Pure and interface Physics, Chemistry and Mathematics.

Our undergraduate teaching programme is radically different from other Indian universities in that it incorporates Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics on equal footing with modern and classical biosciences. Post Graduate teaching programme of MSc-Biosciences captures entire spread of life science. Both programmes strive to build seamless connectivity and synergy between Physical and Biological Sciences. Numerous students of ours have found placement as teachers and researchers in all leading institutes of India and abroad.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS

The Department of Physics as an independent department was created in 1971. In the same year B.Sc. (Hons.) course was introduced.

The Department of Physics introduced M.Sc. (Physics) course in the year 1985 with specialization in Physics of Materials. Further in 1995-96, the Department started two more specializations in M.Sc. Physics, viz. Laser & Spectroscopy and Theoretical Physics. Thus, the following three specializations now exist at M.Sc. Physics level:

- (i) Materials Science
- (ii) Laser & Spectroscopy, and
- (iii) Theoretical Physics.

The research areas which are in progress in the Department are: (a) Nanomaterials, (b) Growth and characterization of single crystals (c) High Tc Superconductivity, (d) X-ray Diffraction, (e) Molecular and Laser Spectroscopy, (f) Laser Materials, (g) Amorphous Semiconductors (h) Nonlinear Optics and Quantum Optics, (i) Theoretical Nuclear and Condensed Matter Physics, (j) Theoretical High Energy Physics, and (k) Polymer Materials

Rural camp:Camp Director: Dr. Vani Narula*Camp Co-director: Dr. Habeebul Rahiman.VM*Date and Venue: 3-12 January 2012, Pattikalyana Village, Panipat, Haryana

Every year, Department of Social Work organizes a rural camp for the undergraduate and post graduate students in social work in order to enable them to understand rural realities and rural institutions from the perspective of the insider. The group of students accompanied by two faculty members camps in a rural area and has an intensive interface with the rural families. This year the camp was held in village Pattikalyana, District Panipat from January 3, 2012 to January 12, 2012. The Department collaborated with Gandhi Smarak Nidhi in Pattikalyana, who offered free accommodation and logistics and helped in the planning and execution of the camp.

The team stayed in the Gandhi Ashram and strictly followed the daily schedule of the Ashram which give thrust on the dignity of labor. The students were made the get up early in the morning, attend yoga sessions, clean up the Ashram, and in the evening, attend the SarvaDharm Prarthna (All Religion Prayer) before their feed back meeting and lunch. Five villages in the proximity of the Gandhi Ashram (Pattikalyana, Majri, Ghadi, Mahawati, Haldana) were selected for the purpose of village exposure. Teams of students interacted with the villagers to understand livelihood issues, health concerns, systems of water management, public distribution system, educational concerns etc. Besides this, regular academic and interactive sessions were arranged for the students in the Ashram in the evenings to enhance their knowledge and acquaint them with the locally relevant social issues. While the BSW students were engaged in working with the children in village using program media activities, the MSW students surveyed the area using PRA techniques and worked on the issues like female feticide and domestic violence. The students also mobilized the community for Shram Dhan at different locations in the village, and sensitized the villagers regarding cleanliness. Cultural programs were held in each of the villages towards the end of the camp were large number of villagers gathered in the venue to witness the performance of their children. Some thing special about the rural camp of this year was the family stay. Each student was made to stay with one family each for 24 hours to experience the rural life cycle closely for at least one full day and night. This was a life time experience for everyone of them. The students, grouped into various committees, took charge of the management of the camp, including food, finance, transport, games, etc. under the supervision of camp directors.

Co-curricular and Extra-curricular Events:1. Inter agency sports and cultural meet*Co-ordinator: Dr. Ashvini Kumar.

The Department conducted its annual event of 'Inter Agency Sports and Cultural Meet - 2012' on 12th February, 2012. The beginning of this annual event dates back to the time of inception of the Department of Social Work in 1967. The main importance of the event lies in the fact that it celebrates the birth anniversary of a great visionary, an eminent educationist and a committed reformist, the late Dr. Zakir Husain (1926-1948) who has had a great influence on the Social Work Department. The objective of the Meet is to provide a platform for children across Delhi's slums, villages and resettlement colonies, an opportunity to mingle with each other and experience the university atmosphere. These children are brought along from communities where the social work students are placed for field work training through the entire year.

385 children from 33 organizations participated in the event. The Chief Guest of the program was Prof. Sudesh Hemraj. It was a great learning experience on the part of the students of social work, as this event is basically coordinated and managed by them, under faculty supervision.

2. Subject Association Activities:Student Advisor: Dr. Ashvini Kumar.

The All India Conference on profession of social work at crossroads (repositioning social work education and practice) was organized by the Department of Social Work, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi with the following main themes being focused upon: a) Standardisation of Social Work Education: Issues and Concerns and b) Strengthening Associations of Professional Social Workers: Ways and Means. The Conference brought forth participation from 150 academicians and scholars from schools of Social Work from across the country. The deliberations were at two levels: (i) Technical Sessions in which there were presentations by well known social work professionals, the Key Speakers and by other participants; and (ii) Workshop in which the challenges and future directions were deliberated by groups designed for the purpose. ANWAR JAMAL KIDWAI MASS COMMUNICATION RESEARCH CENTRE

The AJK Mass Communication Research Centre is a premier media institution in India. Founded in 1982 by Anwar Jamal Kidwai (former VC of Jamia Millia Islamia and later, Chairman of the Centre), the MCRC offers Ph.D. and post-graduate courses in the art, craft and technology of the modern media. The MCRC provides the highest standard of media education, training and research, with a professionally and academically accomplished faculty and a broad spectrum of visiting professionals.

A.J. Kidwai established the MCRC in collaboration with York University, Toronto and the Canadian International Development Aid Agency. The CIDA provided the MCRC with a range of sophisticated production equipment while York University sent the first generation of teachers. The team from York was led by distinguished documentary filmmaker James Beveridge, a close associate of documentary pioneer John Grierson, founder of the National Film Board of Canada. Beveridge, who had worked closely with the Burma Shell Film Company and Films Division in India, was uniquely placed to design the syllabus of this new media institute.

AJ Kidwai envisioned the institute as providing an intensive and integrated media education that would enable students to develop their individual expertise and skills within a secular and collaborative working environment. The institute was expected to give students a comprehensive media education that would nurture the individual aspirations of students while inspiring them to make a meaningful contribution to the social environment within which they work. The MCRC continues to work within this broad mandate while regularly updating its courses to meet the growing challenges of contemporary media and address the opportunities within. All the media courses at the MCRC seek to create competent, thoughtful and sensitive media practitioners whose engagement with the world of media is both professional and intellectual.

Collaborations and Faculty and Student Exchange:

In the year under review, the AJKMCRC continued with the student exchange programme with Sciences po, France.

The Centre collaborated with the University of Westminster, UK to introduce practice based research at AJKMCRC.

Centre for Early Childhood Development and Research (CECDR)

The Centre for Early Childhood Development and Research (CECDR) was established in Jamia Millia Islamia in February 2010. The Centre is a unique collaboration between Jamia Millia Islamia and Save the Children, India. The Centre is informed by child's rights perspective which recognizes children not only as future productive adults, but acknowledges and appreciates childhood as a value in itself. Keeping this in view, the Centre is engaged with a vision to bridge the existing gap between theory, practice and policy formulation in India. The Centre aims to identify contemporary concerns in the field of Early Childhood Development (ECD) and undertake research, advocacy and capacity building.

The Centre offers a Masters Programme in Early Childhood Development (ECD) which has been designed as a cutting edge course to develop in the students the knowledge, attitudes and varied skills to work as ECD professionals in diverse settings and to critically apply theoretical constructs to practice. It is an interdisciplinary course aimed at enabling the student to understand the complexity of the contexts in which young children live and equipping them to make interventions based on a systems approach.

The Centre has been broadly engaged in teaching-learning, research and capacity building activities during the last year. Each of these activities was informed by the aims, objectives and vision of the CECDR and were interrelated to each other and with the centre as a whole.

Keeping in view the interdisciplinary nature of the course, the faculty in the centre is a mix of professionals from diverse academic backgrounds i.e. the faculty members are from diverse backgrounds like Child Development, Education, Psychology and Social Work. The total faculty strength at the Centre is one Professor, five Assistant Professors and two Research Assistants. The team is headed by Prof. Zubair Meenai, the Honorary Director who also heads the Department of Social Work, Jamia Millia Islamia.

CENTRE FOR THEORETICAL PHYSICS

The Centre for Theoretical Physics (ICTP) in Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI), New Delhi, India has groomed into a leading centre and presently it is the only research centre dedicated solely for theoretical physics in Delhi. The Centre's activities are mainly in the areas of astrophysics, gravitation, cosmology and high energy physics. The CTP continues to play an important role as a forum for the training of scientists. A significant number of scientists visit at the CTP each year, participating in workshops, seminars, training courses, and a range of other scientific activities. The CTP is committed to do very high quality research and publish their results in the form of the papers in highly acclaimed International Journals (with very high impact factor). The productivity of the research has sustained a very high level, measured in terms of publications, invited talks and other metrics. The CTP has long-term collaboration with Japanese, Russian, South African Scientists, apart from the India Scientists in various Institutes.

DR. ZAKIR HUSSAIN INSTITUTE OF ISLAMIC STUDIES

Envisaged by Maulana Obaidullah Sindhi, a prominent early twentieth century Islamic scholar of the sub-continent and a freedom fighter, the Zakir Husain Institute of Islamic Studies, Jamia Millia Islamia, was established in 1971 after the name of Dr. Zakir Husain, the first Muslim President of the Indian republic and the benefactor of Jamia Millia Islamia. Prof. M. Mujeeb, the eminent historian and then Vice Chancellor of Jamia Millia Islamia, was its founder and first director. He was followed by Prof Ziaul Hasan Faruqi, Prof S. Maqbool Ahmad, Prof S. Jamaluddin and Prof I. H. Azad Faruqi. The Institute has been headed by Prof. Akhtarul Wasey since 1999.

Four internationally reputed journals, Islam and the Modern Age (English), Islam Aur Asr-e-Jadeed (Urdu), Islam Aur Aadhunik Yug (Hindi) and Jamia (Urdu) are published from the Institute to present a critical evaluation of interaction between Islam and modern life and thought and a comprehensive view of Urdu scholarship, literature and culture.

The Zakir Husain Institute of Islamic Studies organizes the prestigious Prof. Mohd. Mujeeb Memorial Lecture annually that has become a forum for expressing and discussing thoughts and ideas concerning Indo-Islamic and modern civilization and their interface.

NELSON MANDELA CENTRE FOR PEACE & CONFLICT RESOLUTION

The Nelson Mandela Centre for Peace & Conflict Resolution was launched in 2004 and was one of the first of its kind in an Indian university. Its chief focus is comparative and contemporary studies, and it aims to address the lack of serious and purposeful analysis of types and sources of conflict in our country and neighbourhood, and the methods of dealing with them that India has adopted.

Objectives of the Centre:

- To research and document Indian approaches to the promotion of peace, at home and abroad.
- To develop a curriculum of peace and conflict studies based on national, regional and global experiences.
- To build capacity for conflict prevention and resolution in government and civil society agencies.
- To promote a community of academic expertise in conflict prevention, management, and post-conflict peace building.

The Centre has trained students from different parts of India especially the conflict regions of Northeast and Kashmir. The Centre has also had students from Nepal, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Indonesia, Thailand and Afghanistan. Under the student exchange programme students have also come from France. An important component of the MA course is a weeklong fieldwork trip to conflict areas.

Over the years, the Centre has focused on research, curriculum development and teaching, organized seminars /conferences, held short training programs for faculty, administration and civil society, hosted visiting fellows, organized interactions with eminent leaders in peacemaking and partnered with other universities and institutions working in the field of peace and conflict studies.

Curriculum Development (European Union Asia Link Project): The Centre undertook a three-year project on "Peacemaking and Peace-Building in Europe & South Asia (Human Resource and Curriculum Development)" from March 2008 to February 2011. As part of the project, four Course Modules were prepared through joint curriculum development, faculty exchanges, and "test run" programs held in partner universities in Europe and South Asia. A peace network of 25 institutions has been created.
