Public scientific, cultural or professional organisation (EPSCP)

Whose registered office is at 65, rue des Grands Moulins 75214 Paris Cedex 13, France

Represented by its President, Mr. Jean-François Huchet, who has legal authority to sign the present document.

And

Jamia Millia Islamia, a Central University, established by an enactment of the Parliament of India, i.e., the Jamia Millia Islamia Act 1988 and a statutory body

Whose registered office is located at Maulana Mohammad Ali Jauhar Marg, Jamia Nagar, New Delhi - 110025, India

Hereinafter jointly referred to as "the Parties".

The parties have agreed the following:

The purpose of the present agreement is to allow student exchanges between Jamia Millia Islamia and Inalco.

Article 1: Management of this student exchange agreement

Both Parties shall designate a Manager responsible for monitoring the implementation of the Convention, whose contact information will be shared of the other party. They will person will coordinate the selection and administrative support of selected students.

Article 2: Number of students exchanged, duration of stay and extensions

Each institution undertakes to host up to 2 students for one academic year or 4 students for one semester, distributed as evenly as possible. A student selected for two semesters is equivalent to two students selected for one semester each.

The host institution is free to accept, or not accept, nominations from its partner institution. They are also able to restrict access to certain classes should demand exceed their intake capacity.

The length of stay in the host institution may be one or two semesters. Any extension of an exchange student's mobility must be approved by both the home university and the host university of the student concerned.

Article 3: Tuition and fees

Exchange students are exempted from all tuition fees payable to the host institution, including but not limited to application fees. All other costs will be borne by the student.

Exchange students remain subject to tuition fees from their home institution.

Article 4: Application and eligibility of students at the host university

The host institution transmits to its partner, within a reasonable timeframe, all necessary information pertaining to the nomination, application and registration of exchange students.

After an internal selection process, the Student Exchange Manager nominates prospective exchange students to the host institution.

Both Parties are free to set up their own admissions criteria. However, it is expected that both will adhere to commonly accepted quality standards generally observed in student exchange frameworks, such as Erasmus+: a clear and accessible application process, non-discriminatory selection procedures, etc.

Once their nomination is accepted, exchange students should submit their applications and supporting documents directly to their host institution, strictly adhering to the procedure.

Article 5: Academic mobility to the host institution

Exchange students can take courses with the host institution; however, they will not obtain a diploma as part of this Student Exchange agreement.

Exchange students taking courses in the language studied at their home institution may be exempt from providing a language proficiency certificate. However, exchange students studying in a different language must comply with the language policy of the host university.

Academic prerequisites may be waived or modified when the host institution decides that the exchange student was sufficiently trained at their home institution.

The host university may refuse one or more exchange students on certain courses if the number of exchange students leads to the maximum number of students allowed to take these courses being exceeded.

The host institution may provide assistance in finding accommodation; however, students are responsible for all costs associated with this service.

Article 6: Responsibilities of exchange students

Exchange students enjoy the same status as all other students from the host university. As such, they are subject to the same rights and obligations.

They must therefore abide by the rules and regulations established by the host institution, as well as the immigration regulations and the laws of the host country governing their residency status. Any breach of these rules and laws will be dealt with in accordance with the disciplinary policy of the host institution and the law of the host country and/or province.

Each institution may, at any time, terminate a student's participation in the exchange program and in any other program, service or provision if the student does not comply with the host university's rules. Wherever possible, such termination of participation in the exchange program shall be subject to prior consultation between the host university and the home university.

Article 7: Insurance and visa

Exchange students must be covered by a health insurance scheme that is valid in the country of the host university for the duration of their stay. It is also strongly recommended that they take out civil liability insurance and repatriation insurance that is valid in the country of the host university for the duration of their stay. All associated costs as well as any medical expenses not covered by their health insurance policy are the responsibility of the exchange student.

Exchange students are also required to meet the host country's student visa requirements.

Article 8: Transcripts

The host institution will send official transcripts to the home institution or directly to the students at the end of each semester. All credits obtained at the host university may be subject to validation.

Credit transfer remains at the discretion of the home institution. However, both Parties agree to adhere to common standards on the matter and, in any case, to adhere to rules and regulations set by external supporters (when applicable), such as the Erasmus+ program.

Article 9: Other partners

The obligations of each institution under this Agreement are restricted to the exchange of students and do not include partner or affiliate institutions.

Article 10: Validity and Termination of the Agreement

This agreement is concluded for a period of five years. It shall enter into force after signature by both parties, the last date being the authentic date. It may be renewed, amended or extended by means of an amendment signed by both parties.

Every year, each party will have the opportunity to provide a brief report mentioning any imbalance in the number of students and/or other issues or problems. This agreement may be terminated by either party upon six (6) months' written notice.

In the event of disagreement, each party will attempt to resolve the differences through negotiation.

No compensation may be demanded in the event of termination of this agreement and at its term. In the event of termination of this agreement, students already in mobility at the host institution will be able to complete their exchange program.

This agreement is drawn up in two duly signed original copies.
