

Media Coordinator's Office
Jamia Millia Islamia

February 20, 2018

Press Invite

Renowned scholar from Columbia University, Prof Gayatri Chakarvorty Spivak to speak on 'What is it to translate?'

The Department of English, Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI) under its UGC-SAP DRS Programme, Phase-III is going to organize a lecture on 'What is it to translate' by Prof Gayatri Chakarvorty Spivak.

The lecture is scheduled to be held on February 21, 2018 at 2.30 pm in the Dr M A Ansari Auditorium, JMI

Prof Gayatri is a renowned scholar from Columbia University, USA. She is an illustrious cultural and critical theorist. She is renowned for her translation of Derrida's works into English and also for her path breaking essay 'Can the Subaltern Speak?' Her specialisation and prolific publications are in the fields of literature, politics of culture, feminism, Marx, Derrida, and globalization in the 19th and 20th centuries

At present, Professor Spivak is University Professor at Columbia University, USA. She has been the recipient of the Degree of Doctor of Letters (Honoris Causa) from Universitat Rovira i Virgili, Italy, Rabindra Bharati, India, University of Paris VIII, and University of Chile. She was awarded the Kyoto Prize in Thought and Ethics, and the Padma Bhushan in 2013. This year, she was conferred the Lifetime Scholarly Achievement from the Modern Language Association of America.

Prof Saima Saeed
Media Coordinator, JMI

UGC SAP-DRS Programme Phase 3

Department of English
Jamia Millia Islamia

New Delhi, India

“WHAT IS IT TO TRANSLATE?”

Dr. M. A. Ansari Auditorium, Gate 13
21 February 2018, 2:30 P. M.

Public Lecture by

GAYATRI CHAKRAVORTY SPIVAK

UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, USA

Chair:

Professor Harish Trivedi

University of Delhi

