JMI Student bags first runner up position in EY CAFTA Case Championship 2021

Syed Mohammad Bilal, a 3rd year student from the Department of Electronics & Communications, Faculty of Engineering and Technology, Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI) has bagged the first runner up position in the Basic Stream (Basics of Risk Management) in the 2nd edition of the national corporate competition – EY CAFTA Case Championship 2021 hosted by Ernst & Young (EY) from 3rd October, 2021 – 7th November, 2021

Bilal is the only student from JMI to win a position in all the categories of Basic & Advance streams in this remarkable competition held across India on a national scale. More than 3000+ college students across the country participated in EY CAFTA Case Championship 2021. This Year's edition saw a hefty participation from across the country's premiere institutions like IIT Roorkee, IIM Bangalore, LSR Delhi University, NMIMS Mumbai, etc.

EY CAFTA Case Championship is a national level case study competition organized for both undergraduate and postgraduate students across India. The participants are expected to get upskilled in domain knowledge and then propose strategic corporate actions backed up with in-depth research of the organization and market conditions.

He is being rewarded a one month live internship opportunity at the EY Office and a scholarship of 75% on EY's prestigious CAFTA(Certificate in Applied Finance, Treasury and Anaytics) course specially designed for both students(Scholar's course) and midlevel working professionals(Executive Course) in the industry separately. The course module includes 100 learning hours, 14 modules, 7 learning sessions.

Having won inter-college case competitions in the past, Bilal had been eyeing this nationally acclaimed corporate competition for a while and he surely has claimed the reward and the brand tag that the Big 4 offers in amazing fashion.
